

The Mysterious Castle in the Sky (空中魔城) (15)

- 1) ZIP! BOOM! Gamma's plane continues to fly on, straight for the monster.
- 2) "Tarō, would it be alright? Would you be able to jump onto the monster?" asks Gamma of his faithful sidekick. "No problem. I can do it! BEEP, BOOP, BEEP," says Robot Tarō enthusiastically.
- 3) Robot Tarō climbs on to the top of the jet. "Well, fly just over the top of his head," requests Robot Tarō. "Okay!" replies Gamma. ZOOM! VROOSH!
- 4) RAT-ATAT-TAT! ZIP! Gamma flies his jet just over the monster's head. Robot Tarō flies through the air, and lands on the monster.
- 5) "I did it! BEEP, BOOP, BEEP. This should do it," says Robot Tarō to himself. Robot Tarō is clinging to the monster's stomach. But...
- 6) ... because the monster is so huge, Robot Tarō is like a flea on a human body, and the monster is completely unaware of his presence. The monster keeps on flying onwards with Tarō attached to his body. "GA-, GA-, GARRR," roars the monster.
- 7) The monster flies through the sky, heading for the Mysterious Castle in the Sky. "GA-, GA-, GARRR," he roars. In the castle...
- 8) ...Grand Eye addresses his underlings. "You must shrink Garrr back down to his normal size. When we send him out again, then make him bigger. Do you understand?" "Yes, we will shrink him back down," reply the underlings in unison.

- 9) The hooded underlings go and seek out Garr. Robot Tarō meanwhile, quickly sneaks into the Mysterious Castle in the Sky undetected. “Looks like the hooded underlings have gone off. Okay, now is my chance!”
- 10) “Today is my chance to destroy the mysterious eye on the television, the evil being that has been issuing all the orders. If I approach from the front, I am bound to get attacked. I wonder if I shouldn’t approach from behind?” ponders Robot Tarō.

Well...
