

The Mysterious Castle in the Sky (空中魔城) (16)

- 1) Robot Tarō has successfully made it into the Mysterious Castle in the Sky undetected. “Let me go and investigate that television that broadcasts that One Eye,” says Robot Tarō to himself. He approaches from behind.
- 2) Robot Tarō slowly draws the curtain back and peeks inside. “Ah, what’s this? It’s just the same as a regular machine. Looks like someone is broadcasting on this television from a far off place,” ponders Robot Tarō to himself.
- 3) “The commands are being sent to the hooded henchmen by a signal, using the One Eye on the television as a mouthpiece.” “Okay, time to destroy this thing! BEEP, BOOP, BEEP,” says Robot Tarō to himself with much zeal. Robot Tarō smashes the television’s mechanism to bits.
- 4) Here stand the hooded henchmen. Just as commanded by the One Eye on the television, they have shrunken the monster back down to its normal size. “This looks good. Tie it up here in the meantime. Let us go and report to the Great Eye,” commands the leader of the henchmen.
- 5) “A report, sir. As commanded, we have shrunken down Garrr,” reports the leader of the hooded henchmen. “Oh! There is no reply, and no image!” remark the henchmen in unison with much surprise. “BEEP, BOOP, BEEP,” answers Robot Tarō. “There is a strange voice coming from the television,” remarks a confused henchman.
- 6) CRACK! SMASH! Robot Tarō breaks through the television screen and hops out. “Hey, henchmen of the Mysterious Castle in the Sky, you had better get ready!” challenges Robot Tarō.

- 7) “BEEP, BOOP, BEEP, ZIP” goes Robot Tarō. “Oh! Ouch, ouch, ouch!” go the hooded henchmen. “Oh no! The television is broken!” scream the panicked henchmen. While Robot Tarō is beating up the henchmen...
- 8) ZIP! BLAM! Gamma comes flying in, drawing closer to the Mysterious Castle in the Sky. Gamma tracks Robot Tarō’s movements with his radio tracker.
- 9) “Looks like Tarō is really giving it to the baddies. I am going to go and help him out,” thinks Gamma to himself. ZOOM! VROOM! Gamma flies on.
- 10) Out of the blue it comes, with a growling roar, VROOOM! A flying saucer approaches Gamma’s jet from behind.