

The Mysterious Castle in the Sky (空中魔城) (20)

- 1) Below lie a range of craggy mountains. ZIP! ZOOM! ZIP! If the saucer hits the mountains it will be smashed to bits.
- 2) SWOOSH! The flying saucer comes in skimming across the mountain range. It has avoided hitting the mountains.
- 3) The saucer makes a smooth landing on a nearby lake; a famous lake located in the middle of Japan. Gamma is overjoyed.
- 4) “We must now contact Tokyo and tell them about the second sun and the Mysterious Castle in the Sky,” remarks Gamma. “Tarō, go and relay the message and once you have, return,” instructs Gamma. They hail down an approaching car. “BEEP, BOOP, BEEP, I am on my way!” says Robot Tarō.
- 5) This is the Second Sun, blazing, high up in the heavens. Gamma’s flying saucer has landed in the lake. After a while, the yellow beams of light coming for the Second Sun disappear. The, the red beams of light disappear too.
- 6) Floating in the middle of the sun there appears a strange object, like an upturned bowl. This is the Second Mysterious Castle in the Sky. From its many small windows red and yellow beams of light shoot off into the distance. In the castle...
- 7) ... “The day has arrived. First of all, we shall attack Japan, and then we will conquer the rest of the world! I am counting on you!” commands the Queen. Ah, the Queen’s eye... it’s the eye that appeared on the television.

Well then...